I have the courage to speak out for the members of my generation that are forming our new world. Often I see my generation frustrated by the state our world is in. We look at the news, and we feel like we have no control. We are told to wait for our chance when we get older. But at that point, it's too late. Now is the time to speak up against the injustices that we see. If Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. just waited to speak up, he would not be held as one of the greatest civil rights activists. In my illustration, I display many hands representing all millennials across the world, that are standing up and collaborating in order to put our planet back together.
